

SANSKRITI UNIVERSITY FOR EXCELLENCE IN LIFE

You all have appeared in your Board Exams. Let me on behalf of Sanskriti University wish you all the best and hope that you pass with flying colours.

I understand that most of you must be in great stress worrying about the result. Definitely grades/marks are important, but these are not the only steps of glory.

You have to identify your passion, strength and weaknesses and continue your journey for a bright future, irrespective of the grades/marks you secure.

You have to make a conscious decision of your future studies, not as the compulsions of the society or relatives/friends, but realising your own aptitude, strive hard to achieve the goals set. You have to amalgamate whole lots of qualities, talent and values you possess to opt your career and remember that there are many ways/ paths to achieve. If you find obstructions in one path, find the alternate paths to achieve your aims.

However, you always have to maintain your confidence, calm and cool and the spirit to achieve, while upholding your values and principles.

Developing long term motivation is a long term and complicated affair. But one can stay motivated in the short term by reading motivational stories/quotes. I have selected a few which used to motivate me.

- a) Believe you can and you are half way there.
- b) Don't let what you cannot, to interfere with, what you can.
- c) The difference between ordinary and extra-ordinary is that little "extra".
- d) It is not going to be easy, but it is going to be worth it.
- e) The only place where success comes before work is the dictionary.
- f) Don't wish it were easier; wish you were better.

I am confident that you have performed well in the exams as you have worked very hard and the hard work never goes unrewarded. Never forget that you are a human being and not a marks getting machine. Your parents and teachers might have set some goals which may or may not be realistic to achieve. Nevertheless, do your best and forget about mark. In the long run perhaps the marks you got in your board exams may not matter. Always remember that 'There is work for everyone and everyone is unique' in his own way. You are born to live life to the fullest and learn to live with your imperfections.

Once again wishing you all the best in your result
